1 year 4 months

Head of Tech and Production
December 2024 - Present (5 months)
Jaipur, Rajasthan, India

As the Head of Tech & Production at Glitch! eSports Society, I was responsible for managing all technical and production aspects of eSports tournaments, live broadcasts, and gaming events. My role involved leading a production team, ensuring high-quality streaming, managing technical setups, and collaborating with various stakeholders to deliver seamless online and offline gaming experiences. Additionally, I worked with multiple organizations to provide production support, expanding Glitch's reach and influence in the collegiate eSports ecosystem.

1.Led the technical and production aspects of online and LAN eSports tournaments, ensuring seamless execution.
2.Managed live broadcasting, overlays, and in-game observing for professional event coverage.
3.Configured and optimized streaming setups, network infrastructure, and production workflows.
4.rovided production support for various external organizations, expanding Glitch's industry reach.
5.Led a team of production specialists, stream operators, and casters, ensuring smooth operations.

6.Collaborated with event organizers, media teams, and partners to deliver high-quality content.

7.Assisted in post-production editing, including highlight reels and promotional material.

8.Implemented new tools and technologies to enhance event production quality.
